

God Leads Mac Home

In a little town, in a little white house there lived a very happy family. There was a daddy, a mommy, a little boy named David, and his little sister, Annie. One morning at breakfast, Mommy said, "Mr. Brown, who lives on Shady Street, has some puppies for sale. Why don't we go to see them?"

"Oh, yes! Let's go to see the puppies!" shouted the children. "Can we have a puppy, Daddy?" "Well," said Daddy, "Let's go look at them first." That evening, as soon as Daddy got home from the office, they all got in the car and went to see the puppies. And what a group of roly-poly tumbling little puppies they were! It only took a minute for David and Annie to choose the one they wanted, and before they knew it, they were back home. David carried the little puppy into the house. When he put him down, the puppy ran round and round, and wagged his tail, as much as to say: "I like it here. I'm glad I'm your dog."

After the children had played with the puppy for a little while, they put him in a box that had a blanket in it so he could take a nap. While he napped, they all thought about a name for him. Finally, David said, "Let's name him Mac." And that was his name, from then on.

One day, about a week later, Mother heard the back door slam, the sound of running feet, and the sound of crying. Into the room David ran and said, "Oh Mommy!" "I went into Joey's house for a little while to play with his new train. Mac was outside playing, but when I came out again, he was gone, and I can't find him anywhere. He's lost, Mommy! Joey says he might get run over by a car." David's mother told him that they couldn't go look for him right away because Annie was taking her nap, but they could know the truth about Mac.

Mother said that they could know that God is All, and is good. And if He is All, He is everywhere. If He is everywhere, then He is right where Mac is. David agreed that all of this was true, and it meant that God was right there with Mac taking care of him. But then David wanted to know how Mac was going to find his way home because he was such a little puppy. Mother told David that since God is Love, and Love leads the way, Mac would be led by God. Then David said, "I know Mac is all right, because where he is, Love is!"

About two hours later, after Annie had awakened from her nap, they suddenly hear a little noise at the back door. David ran to the door as fast as he could go—and there was Mac, happy and bouncy as ever!"

That night, the children could hardly wait to tell their daddy what had happened. When he had heard the whole story, he patted little Mac and said: "Knowing the truth about Mac today was really loving. Love blesses and protects everyone."

A sleepy little puppy opened one eye and thumped the floor with his little tail as much as to say, "That's right."

John 8:32 "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
